Attending and viewing the pre-inquiry meeting

[1] This publication is intended to inform and assist all those who intend to participate in or observe the Curraghinalt Project (Dalradian) pre-inquiry meeting which will be held at 10.30 am on Wednesday 20th March 2024 in the Strule Arts Centre, Omagh, Co. Tyrone.

[2] The Commission has selected this venue due to its proximity to the project site to accommodate local residents to attend.

[3] The proceedings will be live streamed online at the Commission's YouTube channel for anyone who wishes to view remotely. A link to the live stream will be made available on the Commission's website before the meeting commences. Please note the live stream will only become available at the start of the inquiry meeting at approximately 10.30am.

[4] Parties who wish to attend in person will be admitted up to the capacity of the venue.

[5] Once the venue is at capacity no further parties will be admitted.

[6] The Commission therefore would encourage anyone who does not intend to speak at the meeting not to attend at the venue and to watch the live stream of the meeting remotely.

Nominating a spokesperson

[7] Parties who wish to speak or to nominate a spokesperson to speak on their behalf are required to notify the Commission by emailing dalradian.cpi@pacni.gov.uk confirming the name of the speaker. The Commission encourages parties to join together to nominate spokespersons. Spokespersons can be chosen to discuss particular issues on behalf of the group. The spokesperson can be assisted by the group at the inquiries. Similarly, agents representing people pursuing the same cause will be expected to co-operate with one another.

[8] Details of a spokesperson must be submitted by no later than 12.00pm on Tuesday 12th March 2024.

[9] All parties are reminded that the purpose of this meeting is to outline arrangements to open the eight conjoined inquiries and deal with procedural matters.

[10] There will be no discussion of the merits of the proposals at this meeting.

[11] Entrance to the venue will be via the Bridge Street Entrance. Please note there will be no admission before 9.45am.

[12] Food and drink will not be permitted in the auditorium for the duration of the meeting.

[13] Proceedings may not be photographed or recorded.

[14] Further updates will be available on the Commission's website Curraghinalt Project \(Dalradian\). | Planning Appeals Commission \(pacni.gov.uk\).
